TEACHER:

MARCUS BATEMAN

- Upper limb physiotherapist at Derby Shoulder Unit, UK. The unit is located in Royal Derby Hospital, the headquarters of the documentary "Superhospital" of ITV.
- Has specialized in the upper limb for 10 years.
- He started working in Manchester, completed a master's degree in Nottingham and more recently became one of the first independent prescribing physiotherapists in the UK.
- He has a strong research interest and has published in many peer-reviewed journals on topics related to the shoulder.
- He is the author of the Derby Shoulder Instability Rehabilitation program.
- Associate editor of the International Journal of Physiotherapy & Rehabilitation and peer reviews for several other journals including the British Journal of Sports Medicine.
- Marcus regularly teaches on shoulder at undergraduate and postgraduate level in the UK and Europe.

OBJECTIVES:

- Physiotherapists will update their knowledge of the anatomy of the shoulder before learning in detail about the pathologies of the shoulder.
- - It will be a very practical course so that the students can gain confidence in the clinical evaluation and the diagnosis of common pathologies.
- - The goal is to develop a clear understanding of how to treat each different pathology based on the research evidence and what to do when patients are not improving.
- - There will also be time to discuss individual cases and mock clinical scenarios.
